STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Plantations Labour Act, 1951 provides for the welfare of labour and regulates the conditions of work in plantations. The question of amending the said Act with a view to removing certain difficulties that have been experienced in its working and for enlarging the scope of the Act had been under consideration for some time and the matter had also been discussed at the various sessions of the Industrial Committee on Plantations. Some proposals for amendment of the Act, arising out of the recommendations of the National Commission on Labour were also settled after consultation with the Industrial Committee on Plantations and it is proposed to amend the Act to remove such difficulties and to give effect to the said proposals. The amendments to the Act now proposed mainly relate, among others, to the following matters, namely:—

(1) Extension of the application of the Act to plantations admeasuring 6.5 hectares or more and employing twenty or more workers. The Act is now applicable only to plantations admeasuring 10.117 hectares or more and employing thirty or more workers.

(2) Increase in the monthly wage limit of a worker in a plantation to five hundred rupees from three hundred rupees as at present with a view to enlarging the scope of the application of the Act to more persons.

(3) Provision for compulsory registration of plantations.

(4) Provision for and maintenance of creches even in plantations employing less than fifty women workers (including women workers employed by any contractor), if the State Government is of the opinion that the number of children of the women workers in a plantation requires provision of creches.

(5) Provision for payment of compensation for death or injury due to collapse of defectively constructed houses provided by the employer.

(6) Reduction of working hours for adults and children from 54 hours and 40 hours to 48 hours and 27 hours in a week, respectively.

NEW DELHI;

The 23rd February, 1973.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 4 of the Bill proposes to insert a new Chapter IA in the principal Act, which provides for the registration of plantations. The new section 3A(a) in that Chapter, empowers the State Government to appoint Gazetted officers of Government to be registering officers. Clause 5 of the Bill seeks to insert a new sub-section (1A) in section 4 of the principal Act empowering the State Government to appoint any of its officers or of any local authority under its control to be additional inspectors. Clause 8 of the Bill seeks to insert a new section 16B in the principal Act empowering the State Government to appoint Commissioners to determine the amount of compensation payable under the proposed new section 16A. As the Act is administered by the State Governments, no expenditure will be incurred from the Consolidated Fund of India in respect of the appointment of registering officers, additional inspectors or Commissioners. But in respect of the Union territories, though the existing staff will be employed to the extent possible for exercising the powers and discharging the functions of registering officers, additional inspectors and Commissioners, some additional staff may have to be appointed subsequently, depending on the volume of work. In so far as the Union territories are concerned, it is estimated that an expenditure of a sum not exceeding ten thousand rupees per annum is likely to be incurred from the Consolidated Fund of India, if the Bill is passed and brought into operation. There will be no non-recurring expenditure.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 4 of the Bill, which seeks to insert a new section 3D in the principal Act, empowers the State Government to make rules to carry out the purposes of the new Chapter IA, relating to registration of plantations. The matters in respect of which rules may be made under the new section relate to the form of application for the registration of a plantation, the fees to be paid on such applications, the procedure to be followed by the registering officer in registering a plantation, the authority to which an appeal may be preferred against the orders of the registering officer and other matters.

2. Clause 8 of the Bill, which seeks to insert new section 16G in the principal Act, empowers the State Government to make rules for giving effect to the provisions of the new sections 16A to 16F, which deal with payment of compensation to workers as a result of death or injury caused due to defective construction of houses provided by the employers. The matters in respect of which rules may be made under this section relate to the qualifications and conditions of service of Commissioners, the nature of injuries and the rates at which compensation is payable for such injuries, the principles for determination of compensation in case of death and other matters.

3. The matters with respect to which rules may be made by the State Governments under the aforesaid provisions relate to matters of detail or procedure. The delegation of legislative powers is, therefore, of a normal character.

B. N. BANERJEE,
Secretary.
